1. The Nove Udoli (N 49/Q 44) sector of the Czech-Bavarian border is located seven kilometers to the northwest of the point of intersection of the Austrian, Bavarian and Czechoslovak borders.
2. In this sector a row of barbed wire obstacles runs parallel to the border at a distance of 3,000 or 4,000 meters. In front of these obstacles there is a strip of ploughed land. It is not known whether any alarm system is connected with the obstacles. The barbed wire obstacles are double in some places and continue as far as Dolni Vitavice, opposite the Czech-Austrian border.
3. Border Guard (PS) patrols in the Nove Udoli sector move along the interior edge of the wire obstacles. They have never been observed patrolling any nearer to the Austrian border.
